Dear Marc Desrosiers:

Re: Response Letter
Freedom of Information and Protection of Privacy Act
Our File No: PHSA F21-0861

I write in response to your January 4, 2021 request for records made under the Freedom of Information and Protection of Privacy Act, RSBC 1996, (the "Act").

Request

You requested the following records (the "Request"):

Please provide all records describing the isolation and purification of a SARS COV-2 virus directly taken from a diseased patient, where the diseased patient's sample was not first combined with any other genetic material, IE. Any other mammals cells, monkey kidney cells, Vero cells, or the like. I am using the word "isolation" in the everyday sense of the word. "The act of separating a thing(s) from everything else. I am using the word "purification" in the everyday sense of the word: "purification clearly means separating the virus from all other organic materials." I am not requesting records where isolation or purification of SARS COV-2 refers instead to: the culturing of something, the performance of an amplification test, IE a PCR test, or the sequencing of something. I am requesting all such records that are in the possession, custody or control of the BCCDC, for example downloaded to a computer, printed, hard copy, etc. [January 1, 2020 - December 31, 2020]

Response

After consulting with individuals at BC Centre for Disease Control, no records were found in response to your request.

A copy of the Act is available online at:

Office of the Information and Privacy Commissioner for British Columbia

The Office of the Information and Privacy Commissioner for British Columbia (the "OIPC") is the regulator of access and privacy laws in the province. If you have a concern with any decision in the processing of the Request you have the right to request a review of PHSA's decision from the OIPC. For ease of reference, information about the OIPC is included in Appendix A of this letter.
